DIRECTORY INFORMATION

The following is a list of group day care facilities that have met standards as set forth in the Standards (Child Welfare Rule No. 3) for Group Day Care of Pre-School and School-Age Children (Minnesota Statutes, Section 257.101 and 257.081, Subdivision 4) and have been licensed by the Minnesota Department of Public Welfare.

For persons using this directory, it is important to emphasize that the selection of the right facility for a child can best be done by visiting, observing, and comparing different programs. Differences in sponsorship, staff, physical location, program, and hours of operation do exist.

Day care is a child welfare service which supplements parental supervision by providing for the care, protection, and education of children away from their own homes for all or part of the day. Day care includes:

I. FAMILY DAY CARE

Family day care serves children by providing protection and care in a family home setting. The homes are supervised and licensed according to state standards by the counties in which they are located. Information on licensed family day care homes caring for one to five children in a family setting is available from the local county welfare departments. These are listed alphabetically on page 70.

II. GROUP DAY CARE

Group day care provides young children with experiences and the environment for their social, physical, and mental growth by regular association with other children, and under supervision of qualified persons. The concept of group day care includes, but is not limited to, a number of related types of programs such as Day Care Centers, Nursery Schools, Head Start, and Daytime Activity Centers, which are all concerned with the basic goal of child development.

Day Care Centers offer services to children who need to be away from their homes for all or part of the day.

Nursery Schools provide similar group day care services but are distinguished by the fact that they have one certified teacher on the premises for each group of 20 children.

The Head Start child Development Centers, funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity, make early childhood education opportunities available to families of limited means. The Child Development Center brings together all those resources—family, community, and professional—which can contribute to the child's total development. It provides health services and social services in addition to the educational program.

A Daytime Activity Center is a community program designed to serve retarded and handicapped children and adults. Most centers serve the mentally retarded within a wide age range, from three years old to over forty. DAC's are supported by 50% State Matching Funds. The DAC goals include:

- 1) A program to develop abilities of retarded individuals and help them become better functioning individuals in their families and in the community.
- 2) To prepare individuals for participation in other community programs such as special education classes, sheltered employment, or residential living.

Most of these programs provide service to children three through five years of age. A few have groups for school-age children. Day nurseries and nursery schools are not recommended for children under three years of age. These children are more appropriately placed in a family day care home, as are some older children.
